HELLO TO AUTUMN 2022

They say time flies, and this Summer has been no exception, there has been much activity at our shelter what with Open Days, Ukrainian Family visits, Paws for Ukraine, work experience students, all the comings and goings of the cats and kittens and of course coping with the two heatwaves. Whilst trying to open back up after the long and never ending Covid pandemic, there have been many changes; many people are naturally still very cautious over visiting despite it being largely open air, with the growing concerns over the cost of living crisis producing a steady flow of “we can’t afford to feed ourselves never mind the cat” stories gathering in the wings and our guinea pig population of eight has now jumped to seventeen!

Additional work means more pressure on the volunteers and our purse strings; I would like to say a special thank you to Susie Phillips and her mum Anji Smith for their admirable achievements with sorting out pretty much the whole Paws for Ukraine campaign (twice) to help the much needed animals in Ukraine whilst still helping at the shelter. Our fundraising team has been very busy too and a special thank you goes to Carol Beeles and her team for giving up not only their time but also Carol’s home which has been and continues to be used for storage.

VILLAGE LIFE

by Karen Wainwright, Volunteer

At the time of writing we have held three open days this summer which the villagers have enjoyed due to the extra attention. Now we have two ways to enter the Village following the replacement fencing that was installed earlier in the year. This has enabled us to operate an “in & out” door system which helps to keep everyone safe during these ongoing difficult times with Covid-19.

We have had just one new resident in the retirement village who is called Felix. She arrived at the end of July 2022 and is 17 years of age. She has had a number of her teeth removed. Felix arrived at the shelter because her owner moved away due to work relocation. I have found her to be friendly and affectionate she talks quite a lot. Felix's purr is very loud.

Currently we have 18 residents in the village and in the main they get on very well.

During the current warm spell the moggies seem to be able to find somewhere that is reasonably cool. A few love to stretch out and lie in full sun which is amazing since they have such thick fur coats.

ONLINE SHOP

Freddie is all set with a new magnet range in his honour to get the online shop orders out. So go take a peek at our online shop and see what gifts and goodies you can purchase. Remember it is never too early to purchase gifts for Christmas or Birthdays for the cat lovers in your life.

Freddie has recently started to be helped by Gizzmo with the online shop orders although he does tend to get it a bit wrong and steals the cat nip toys when our backs are turned.

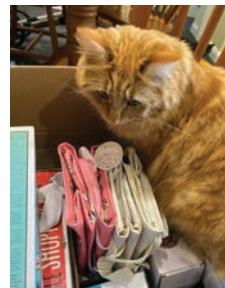

So, let us help keep Freddie and Gizzmo busy after their help during Paws for Ukraine they need more online shop orders to help fill their day with paper sitting and box checking activities.

Happy to support Shropshire Cat Rescue

MOLLY AND ME

by Clare Herzig, Volunteer

Hi my name is Clare and I volunteer at Shropshire Cat Rescue. I started volunteering last September. When I started helping I was having a few issues with my mental health.

I suffer with anxiety and depression and Molly, who lives in the village, has totally changed my life since I started volunteering. Molly is 21 years old and always senses when I'm having a bad day. She follows me around giving me love and cuddles. Every week she sits on the bench waiting for me to get her breakfast. While I am cleaning in the village she is always close by watching me and waiting until I have finished. She knows that's when I get a brush out and she will get attention.

She gives me head rubs and melts my worries away. I don't feel Molly is just a cat in my life, she is the best therapy I could ever have. Molly will always have a special place in my heart, in many ways she has saved me.

There are a number of ways you can support Shropshire Cat Rescue. Did you know we have an Amazon page where you can donate to our wish list? Or you can give via our Just Giving page or simply send a cheque.

Thank you for your support.

BALI VISITS SCR

We were delighted to welcome Aron Hughes from Sun and Sage animal rescue in Bali who along with his wife Connie and mother Bronwen spent about two hours visiting us and finding out everything about Shropshire Cat Rescue. Aron rescues Bali street animals whilst promoting veganism and kindness to all animals.

Aron loved all of our animals at the shelter and spent time hugging them and talking to them – we couldn't get him away! He had some very sad stories about animal suffering and neglect in Bali, it isn't the greatest place in the world for animals and often they are left on the street to suffer. Aron started Sun and Sage to try and help as many animals as he could in the country. It was great to connect with someone who feels so passionate about animal welfare and taking care of them when they need us most.

Marion, Karen, Elaine. Pat and Alan and Anne all enjoyed talking with him and learning more about the vital work that he carries out. Over some light refreshments of juice and home-made brownies and vegan cookies, stories of love for animals were shared and it is amazing to think that even though we live on opposite sides of the world there is a common bond uniting us in our love of cats and other furry friends.

We were proud to share the work that we do at Shropshire Cat Rescue and tell him about our amazing volunteers, our fundraising teams, our marketing activities and our plans to help many more cats and kittens who need our help. They were very impressed with the charity and everything that we do together and we promised to continue to support each other across the world in our shared quest to help as many animals as possible who need our help.

GETTING READY FOR FIREWORK SEASON

by Susie Phillips

It is that time of year when fireworks begin to be let off, unfortunately they are not just lighting up our skies and creating noise for one night or weekend a year and can start 2 – 3 weeks before Bonfire Night, so planning to help your cats cope during this time needs to be started earlier and earlier and continue for a longer period.

So how can we help cats cope with fireworks?

Start preparing early - the beginning to middle of October will really help.

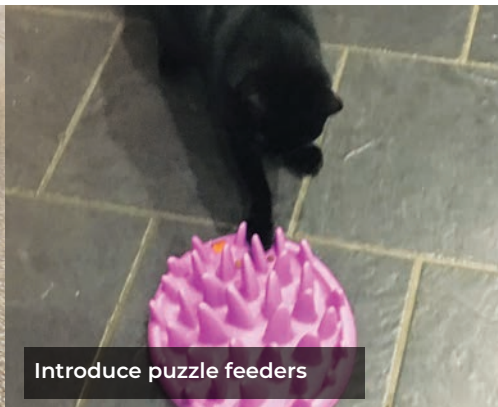

Continue reading for more guidance.

What can you do?

- Introduce extra hiding and safe places – you do not need to spend money you can use empty cardboard boxes, drape blankets over chairs or leave wardrobe doors slightly open. If you do not leave their carrier out already and it has a removable door take it off place a blanket inside and place a blanket over the top. If your cat heads upwards for their safe place start thinking of ways you can introduce other places they may feel safe in e.g. place a box or covered carrier on top of draws or bookcases (please ensure the new hiding place is secure and doesn't wobble when the cat jumps up).
- Introduce plug -ins or use sprays that aid calming whether a pheromone based one like Feliway Classic or a herbal version like Pet Remedy. Place the plug ins in locations they are known to hide and use as their safe place for resting. Use sprays on bedding (please test before applying to surfaces you are concerned about to ensure doesn't damage them). Remember that Feliway needs to be sprayed on a item 20 minutes before introducing it to your cat as the smell of the liquid used to carry the pheromone scent overpowers it initially and cats are not keen on the smell.
- Place small amounts of food in the new safe place locations you have created so they search them out and then also do this on the day's fireworks are being let off, try to do it beforehand so that you do not disturb them once the fireworks start.
- Do not disturb or seek your cat out if they have hidden, just act normal and leave them to it. Some cats will seek you out for comfort but don't go to them let them come to you.
- White noise can help cats and could help drown out the sound of the fireworks, avoid playing nature sounds as the sounds of birds could cause them frustration when they can not see or find them. Examples of white noise could be a water fountain or sound of waves. There are downloads and CDs you can

Get creative make your own puzzle feeders

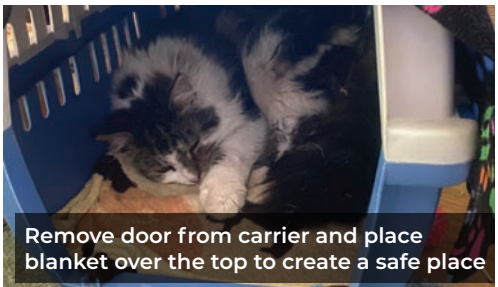

Introduce puzzle feeders

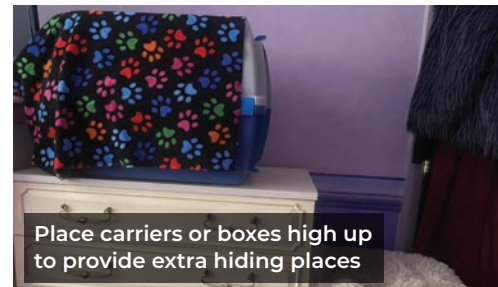

Provide extra weatherproof outdoor hiding locations

Bring outside smells inside via leaves feathers and sticks

Remove door from carrier and place blanket over the top to create a safe place

Place carriers or boxes high up to provide extra hiding places

Tips to help those not used to completely indoor life or one with restrictions this include cats who have free access to a catio as this sudden restriction of that area can cause stress. Some cats struggle more than others, the following tips are useful for all cats and can be used year-round for any indoor or restricted access cat.

- Introduce puzzle feeders there are various ones available on the market or you could create your own using empty toilet rolls and boxes. Check out our blog Puzzle Feeders Helping Cats in Different Ways for more information. <https://www.shropshirecatrescue.org.uk/post/puzzle-feeders-helping-cats-in-different-ways>
- Introduce scent boxes – these are boxes that you can use to bring in outdoor smells into the home collect fallen items within your garden including feathers, sticks, leaves (autumn is the perfect time to collect fallen leaves). Let them explore and smell the items you bring in, of course feathers, sticks and leaves may then be played with too. You can walk around your garden and areas you know they spend outside and let them smell your shoes when you come back in.

- Bring items from outside inside from a catio e.g. if they have a scratch posts in there bring it in so they still have access.
- Introduce extra play sessions – avoid doing this during the fireworks but maybe after the cat flap is initially locked. However old a cat is play is still important for them and being inside more means they lose the chance to pounce and play with objects outside. Very often you see cats pouncing on leaves or launching to try and catch a fly.

Speak with your cats veterinary practice as they can advise on calming supplements that you can give to your cat and ensure that they are suitable for your cat. Some supplements may need to be given a few weeks before hand to be fully effective where others can be given on the day. Your vet will guide you to what is available and suitable for your cat.

Helping cats who live completely outdoors

Restricting outdoor access is not possible for these cats but they can still be helped.

- Provide weatherproof hides/ kennels close to areas they tend to be found resting.
- If an undercover area like a barn or shed can be left open or made accessible for the cat's place boxes to act as hides and provide food and water within the location but spread out.
- Spraying Feliway classic or Pet Remedy on blankets placed in the area or in hides can really help.
- If it is safe and electricity is accessible setting up something to play white noise could be beneficial.
- Avoid locking them in somewhere unless they are used to being locked in as otherwise they could experience more stress by being unable to escape to a location they feel is safe.

PAWS FOR UKRAINE

Our second Paws for Ukraine lorry arrived safely on Monday 18 July, Bob from Shropshire Express made great time after initially struggling to get on a train at Folkestone to cross the channel. Bob was equally impressed with the team at Foundation ADA as Chris and Greg were who took our first lorry.

The team at Foundation ADA were massively grateful for the delivery and will keep us updated to where our donations go to help the animals of Ukraine.

We could not have achieved the mammoth task of sending the second or first lorry load of animal aid if it wasn't for the support of our supporters and volunteers.

A lot of charities, businesses and individuals helped us with both the lorries and we are so grateful for their support.

Charities:

Cuan House Wildlife Rescue, Grinshill Animal Rescue, Help Ukraine Telford, Kats Kradle, Rose Cottage Cat Rescue, Stray Cat West Midlands, Yorkshire Cat Rescue.

Vets:

Carmel Vets, Medivet Lawley, Severn Edge Vets Bridgnorth, Sandbeck Veterinary Centre, Taylor and Marshall, Your Vets Smethwick.

Residential collections:

The lovely residential collection points based in Bayston Hill, Newport, Oswestry, Shifnal, Wolverhampton and Yorkshire.

Businesses who supported and donated:

Beco, Catit, Ceva (Feliway and Adaptil), Dale Brothers, Doolittles, Granite Storage, Happy Dog, Just For Pets, Kitties Staycation, Leucillin, PDM Produce, Pet Remedy, Pets n Potions, Safe4, Shropshire Express, Textile Express.

We couldn't have done it without your help and support and we are really grateful that as a charity we have been able to support another providing care and supplies to help the animals of Ukraine.

Of course, we cannot forget the feline help we had. The free ranger resident cats at the shelter enjoyed helping out with packing again. Freddie and Gizzmo were on hand to help check the Amazon Wish List deliveries and Pippin came to help pack items too. Grumpy who is a feral cat who lives at the storage units in Shifnal appeared whilst volunteers were packing and palleting up the donations the week before departure, our volunteer Susie who is a registered veterinary nurse noticed him limping and managed to build up some trust over a couple of days so she could get close and be able to take him to work the day before loading. His claws had grown into his pads and caused an infection. He is an old boy and estimated to be around 15 years old; he is now on medication to help him with his Osteoarthritis and hopefully this will mean he can sharpen and keep his claws in tip top condition so they do not grow into his pads again. We took the opportunity to administer flea and worm treatment. Grumpy was the model travel companion and was enjoying the extra food and being allowed to stay in the bottom of the carrier in the kennel at the vets to help him feel more secure. Grumpy was quickly back to his usual self and the infection has cleared up completely, he is moving better and is back to his old self he is staying on the medication and is a model patient happily taking it in his food daily. So not only the animals of Ukraine have been helped by Paws for Ukraine but so has an elderly feral cat in Shifnal.
